Thatching One of Oldest Arts.
 Thatching is perhaps one of the oldest arts in the world, for it dates back to the time when the first man hit on the idea of putting a few rushes on the roof of his hut to keep the rain out. But, like so many of the old arts, it is dying out, and first-class thatchers are few and far between, remarks London Answers.

ANNOUNCES HIS BID ENTIRELY TOO LOW

Will Not Interfere With Work This Summer; Welker Is Arraigned

Owing to the fact that Contractor John Edwards of Sunbury will be compelled to let the job go by default, it will be necessary to re-advertise for bids and re-award the contract for the construction of the Mt. Vernon-Newark pike in Knox county.

Information was received by County Surveyor Carl Van Voorhis Monday morning that State Highway Director Herrick received word from Edwards on Saturday afternoon that his bid was too low and that he will be compelled to let the job go by default.

Edwards' bid for the 3.3 miles of pike in Knox county was $114,677.45, while the engineer's bid was approximately $132,000.

County Surveyor Van Voorhis announced Monday morning that Edwards' action would not delay work on the pike the coming summer. He announced that the letting would be re-advertised and the contract let before the pleasant weather starts.

Figuratively Speaking

Near Fresno, California, in the San Joaquin valley, is a tree that is said to yield annually two tons of white figs. It is really five trees growing as one; the wide-spreading branches of the several trunks having been joined by grafting some years ago. With a yearly income from this source alone of $500, an income that is steadily growing, the owner might not very far in the future, be said to be living not only under his own fig tree but on it.
